A Schiffer Book for Collectors

Desi Scarpone works in the Entertainment Industry in California.

As long as he can remember, Desi has enjoyed collecting the things he admires. He currently has an extensive collection of phonograph records, vintage toys, ceramic objects, books, Christmas decorations, monster models, classic cars, Rock memorabilia, and ... oh, yes ... Board Games.

Board games have been a part of America for more than 150 years. 1475 color photographs of individual board games are presented here from the 1940s through the 1980s along with interesting text, memorabilia and period advertising for them. They reflect the political, social, and recreational mores of the society and are an entertaining and enlightening record of the country's growth as a nation. The man who invented the game COOTIE is featured along with his many other game inventions.

These colorful gameboards, packaging and game pieces have become fascinating to collectors today. The prices accompanying each photo reflect the current market. Board Games is a visual delight which toy dealers, collectors and past players all will enjoy and cherish.

Dedication

To my family, for providing me with the happy times growing up, and for Tommy, who reminded me of them.

Disclaimer

The prices listed for games in this book are estimates based on the author's personal experience. They are formatted from a variety of sources including swap meets, game lists, auction catalogs, toy shows, collectible conventions, and the Internet. There are many different factors that contribute to a Seller's asking price but only one factor that determines what a game is worth: what the Buyer is willing to pay. With that in mind, neither the author nor the publisher can be held responsible for any fiscal losses that occur through the use of this book in the purchase or sale of games.

Acknowledgments

---

I would like to thank the many wonderful people who have shared their insights, and their game collections, in the preparation of this book:

Peter Schiffer, for finding a way to make the second book happen. Tom Fassbender, of Uglytown Productions, for unraveling the mystery of Milton Bradley's THE ICE CUBE GAME. To Michael Quinn, who shared his thoughts ... and some of his games for the REMCO INDUSTRIES section. Thanks go to Bob Claster, who allowed me into his home to photograph his huge, though precarious, board game collection, and who shared his thoughts and views. Bob has created a website on the internet that is a tribute to Sid Sackson, one of the premier game creators of all time. The site can be viewed at Http://www.webnoir.com/bob/sackson.htm and is definitely worth a look. Thanks also go to Matt Ottinger, who was able to share many scarce game show board games from his personal collection, despite his arduous schedule. Matt also runs the best, and most complete, website on the subject of game show games in the world, entitled "THE GAME SHOW HOME GAME HOME PAGE". You can view it at Http://www.userdata.acd.net/ottinger/games.htm. Believe me, ANYTHING you want to know about game show games can be found at Matt's entertaining site. I am indebted to Jeff Lowe for taking the time to share more of his incredible collection, for the second time. Jeff is also an excellent source for those collectors looking to purchase board games. His website, Jeff Lowe's ExtravaGAMEza, can be viewed at Http://www.ewtech.com/games. You can also Email him at Gamesguy1@aol.com or call him at (402) 592-8186. If he doesn't have what you're looking for in his huge inventory, he will find it for you. Special thanks are due for Rick Polizzi who, like Jeff, contributed greatly to my first book and now this one. Rick shared his expertise and opinions (each of which he has in abundance), and again allowed me unlimited access to his beautifully displayed collection. Many of the rare games in this book are his. Rick is the author of SPIN AGAIN (published by Chronicle Books 1991), and BABY BOOMER GAMES (published by Collector Books 1995), two fabulous books which no serious collector of board games should be without. You can write to him for back issues of his excellent game-related enterprise SPIN AGAIN MAGAZINE at his email address: Spinagain7@aol.com.

To all who have contributed to this book ... my thanks.

Introduction

---

Since the publication of my first book, I have heard from many people. Some of them are looking for games, others just want to share their experiences with board games while growing up. But among these letters, a common theme has developed: many find the board games of today lacking in some respects. I hear from countless parents who want their children to experience the same joy they did while growing up, so they go to their local toy store and buy their kids a game like CANDYLAND. "But," they lament, "it's not the same, even though it plays the same. It's ... different somehow." What is the missing ingredient? I believe it's the artwork. Half of our experience comes from the innocent, often beautiful art that adorns the covers of so many board games. The original cover art to CANDYLAND, with its quaintly dressed children not quite sure what to make of the talking gingerbread man and his candy house, is comforting and reassuring. It reminds us of a time and place when things were simpler, and the artwork reflects it. The sheer happiness on the plastic face of SPUDSIE, THE HOT POTATO assures us of a smile no matter how we're feeling, while ANY of the covers of early Cadaco-Ellis games, like RED HERRING or OLD MOTHER HUBBARD, are sure to delight and amuse us. Some games, like RANGER RICK AND THE GREAT FOREST FIRE have a cover that can only be described as breathtaking. Game play is important too; but, you're much more likely to buy a bad game with a good cover than a good game with a bad cover.

Many games today utilize photo covers, mainly because it is often cheaper than hiring an artist to paint a cover. The result is often stark and unappealing. Board games are a form of escapist entertainment, and having the contents presented unadorned often results in the game not being shown to its best advantage. Not that game makers have to lie (after all, there are Truth in Advertising laws), but a little fantasy doesn't hurt. There are splendid painted covers nowadays, and many of them DO hark back to a drawing style reminiscent of vintage board games (what does THAT say?), but the majority are unimaginative renderings that do little to make the consumer feel comfortable, reassured, or happy. Having said this, it is entirely possible that the children of the 1990s, like all generations before them, will become nostalgic for the games of their youth.

In the end, games stay with us. They have been amusing, delighting, and, yes, inspiring us for over 150 years. We grow up with games, we learn from games, we teach with games. They touch us on a deep emotional level that we do not often realize, like so many things, until we no longer have them. Board games have given us a lot, and we respond to that gift by cherishing and treasuring them as much as we can.

Using This Book

More Board Games is an excellent reference guide for the veteran collector, eager neophyte, or curious newcomer. Over one thousand different games are shown (many in detail). The wide range of subject matter covered is certain to inform, entertain, and delight the reader.

In addition, Board Games, my first book by Schiffer Publishing, is a splendid companion to this volume. It also has over one thousand photos. The chapter headings in this volume correspond to those in that previous work. In some instances, you will see references in this book to items from that text, since there are many relationships to games from that initial foray.

Together, these two books make formidable tools. Individually, each book stands alone well, with valuable information for the beginning, intermediate, and advanced collector alike.

Determining values

The value of board games has become increasingly arbitrary. Condition, rarity, location, cover art, and current market trends should be considered when buying or selling, but sometimes emotion is the only criteria. Separating your feelings from the deal is difficult, but it may save you money, whether you are the buyer or the seller.

The value ranges given in this book are for games that are from Very Good to Very Fine condition, meaning games ranging from those that may be missing a part or two—and have been used (but not abused), to games that are absolutely complete and look as if they have hardly been played with. Games that are still sealed in their original plastic wrapping are usually worth much more than stated, and games that look like they've been through a wringer and are missing essential pieces are worth far less.

Prices for Collectibles in general, and Board Games specifically, have been affected by a growing phenomenon: The Internet. Whether you love it or hate it, there can be no denying the impact it has made. The question is, how do you realistically measure an item's intrinsic value when so many new variables have been introduced. Not only have many more common and obscure games been brought to light, but the sheer numbers of collectors (and non-collectors) desiring them has grown tremendously, fueled in part because of another resurgence of interest in Baby Boomer Collectibles, and in part by ease of access.

EVERYONE has access to a computer, and can log on to a myriad of Web Sites that buy, sell or auction board games.

With this giant wave of humanity sweeping cyberspace, it has become increasingly difficult to determine what might be a legitimate new value, or what is simply spur-of-the-moment "internet" fever. For example, on one auction website, I witnessed the MASH TRIVIA GAME going for $135, while a few inches down the screen, an identical game was going for $5. Someone probably desperately needed the game for a gift of some kind, and—apparently without taking the time to check out similar listings—decided money was no object. This does not a new value make! However, some games, like Milton Bradley's MYSTERY DATE and DARK TOWER, have consistently been selling for hundreds of dollars. There seems to be no letup in the demand for these games, although they are by no means rare.

I still don't feel these prices are "real" (based on my experience); but, they have been realized enough times to say "this is now what this item is worth," for the present moment. The Internet is still in its infancy, and whole new sets of challenges to board game values are sure to emerge in the future.

Finding a pattern, a consistency in sales, is the key to separating the highs from the lows. Also remember that a price guide is just that: a "guide."

Chapter One

Western and Military Games

Who hasn't wanted to be a cowboy at some point while growing up? Games about the West were sporadic until the wide spread introduction of television in the 1950s, and then the floodgates opened. Personalities from Annie Oakley to Jesse James were immortalized in board games through the years, and but a small sample is represented here.

Military games have always been predominantly strategy games, whether commemorating or emulating wars and conflicts throughout history. Although in today's world it is considered anathema to glorify war, times used to be different. Games that taught about or reenacted famous campaigns were quite popular, and many a company's bread and butter. Games such as Toy Creations' 1942 SPOT-A-PLANE even provided a public service (they felt), helping players identify friendly and enemy aircraft in the event of an attack on American soil.

WALT DISNEY'S DAVY CROCKETT ADVENTURES

Gardner Games 1956

Based on segments shown on ABC's DISNEYLAND TV show starring Fess Parker. Cool game includes large "Davy Crockett" spinner which pointed to colorful cards that players collected, such as "Davy battles Redstick" (an Indian), and "Davy grins the bear," whatever that means.

WALT DISNEY'S DAVY CROCKETT ADVENTURES

Gardner Games 1956

$45 - $65

FESS PARKER WILDERNESS TRAIL CARD GAME

Transogram 1964

Fess Parker "as seen on the Daniel Boone Show." Simple card game similar to "CINDERELLA" game of same year.

$25 - $35

ANNIE OAKLEY

Game Gems 1965

Based on the ABC TV show starring Gail Davis. Was originally broadcast in the 1950s and is thought to be the first Western TV series to star a woman. More plastic cowboys and Indians.

Courtesy of Rick Polizzi

$55 - $75

THE LEGEND OF JESSE JAMES

Milton Bradley 1966

Based on the movie.

$35 - $45

THE VIRGINIAN

Transogram 1962

"Adventures at Shiloh Ranch." Based on the NBC TV series starring James Drury as "the Virginian," along with Lee J. Cobb, Gary Clarke, and Doug McClure. Scarce game.

Courtesy of Rick Polizzi

$75 - $100

THE REBEL

Ideal 1961

Based on the ABC TV series starring Nick Adams.

Has neat plastic cowboys and Indians pieces.

$45 - $55

BUFFALO BILL JR'S CATTLE ROUND-UP

Built-Rite 1956

Based on TV series starring Dick Jones. Like all Built-Rite games, it is cheesy and insubstantial, and has unrelated "Horseshoe Derby Game" printed on reverse side of board. A recent flood of this game, and the WILD BILL HICKOK'S CAVALRY AND INDIANS GAME in mint unpunched condition, suggests a warehouse find and has lowered the price.

$20- $25

WILD BILL HICKOK'S THE CAVALRY AND THE INDIANS GAME

Built-Rite 1956

Based on the TV series starring Guy Madison.

Reverse of board is "India" game.

Courtesy of Rick Polizzi

$20 - $25

WILD, WILD WEST

Transogram 1966

"The Frontier Agent Game." Based on the popular CBS TV series starring Robert Conrad and Ross Martin. Extremely scarce and highly sought after game.

$350 - $550

THE DEPUTY

Milton Bradley 1960

Based on the TV series starring Henry Fonda. Came with cool metal badge to be worn by winner of game.

$35 - $45

Inside of WILD, WILD WEST GAME.

THE RESTLESS GUN

Milton Bradley 1959

Based on NBC TV series starring John Payne. Game play and board is exactly the same as SHOTGUN SLADE (see first book).

$35 - $45

BONANZA

Parker Brothers 1964

"As played by the Cartwrights at their Ponderosa Ranch."

Michigan Rummy game. Loosely, to say the least, based on the NBC TV series starring Lorne Greene, Pernell Roberts, Dan Blocker, and Michael Landon that ran for 15 years. In fact, the only thing relating this to the Cartwrights is the badly superimposed game on the table on the cover.

$25

RAWHIDE

Lowell 1960

Based on the CBS TV show starring Clint Eastwood and Eric Fleming. Game is sought after for the Clint Eastwood connection, but he does not appear on the cover.

$75 - $95

REWARD

HAPPY HOUR 1958

3-D Vacuformed game board, from same series as BILLIONAIRE and TICKY THE CLOWN CLOCK GAME (see first book). Another game that came with metal sheriff's badge.

$22 - $30

THE ADVENTURES OF RIN-TIN-TIN

Transogram 1955

Based on ABC TV series starring Lee Aaker as Rusty and Rin-Tin-Tin, although box states the game is based on "TV, Radio, and Movies."

$25 - $35

F TROOP

Ideal 1965

"Mini-Board Card Game." Based on the ABC TV series starring Forrest Tucker, Ken Berry and Larry Storch. From a series of small, simplistic "mini-board" games that Ideal put out that included I SPY, GET SMART, etc. (see first book).

$35 - $45

STONEY BURKE

Transogram 1963

"Rodeo Circuit" game. Based on the ABC TV series starring Jack Lord (of HAWAII FIVE-0 fame). Players compete in four rodeo events.

$50 - $75

ROY ROGERS RODEO GAME

The Rogden Company 1949

Based on film and TV star Roy Rogers. Game has faux cover autograph of Roy Rogers and Trigger. His picture is in center of playing board. Plays similar to STONEY BURKE RODEO CIRCUIT GAME. However, the player who rolls the highest number on the dice at the beginning of the game gets to be "Roy." Rare game.

$125 - $250

COWBOYS AND INDIANS

Sam'l Gabriel Sons & Co. 1940s

"Build a corral, Capture a pony." Pretty much says it all. Small wooden sticks were inserted into the box bottom game board to "build a corral."

$20 - $25

LITTLE CHIEF

Whitman 1960s

Came with neat paper headdresses

$15

"POW"

Selchow & Righter 1955

"The Frontier Game." From a children's series that included BUZZ, WASH-OUT, and WUFFLE TREE. Cowboy and Indian game that ends in a "Battle to the death when the last man on either side is killed"

$15 - $22

TEXAS RANGERS

All-Fair 1950s

Identical game (with similar cover) to All-Fair's 1956 game JACE PEARSON'S TALES OF THE TEXAS RANGERS (see first book). It's not clear which version came first

$25 - $35

SHERIFF OF DODGE CITY

Parker Brothers 1966

$15 - $20

GUNFIGHT AT O.K. CORRAL

Ideal 1973

Large game in which players shoot at each other with ball-bearing firing guns. If your cowboy is hit, he pops off

$25 - $35

SEA RAIDER

Parker Brothers 1940s

"An exciting new game for young admirals." Included metal ships.

$40 - $50

DOVER PATROL

H.P. Gibson and Sons 1940s

"Or Naval Tactics." English game that included 80 ships on small metal stands.
$40 - $55

BOMB THE NAVY

J. Pressman & Co. 1940

Thin cardboard game includes five cardboard ships with stands. You roll glass marbles and try to knock over ships.
$30 - $45

BEACHHEAD INVASION

Built-Rite 1950s

Simple, but very large game. Unusual for this company.
$35 - $45

BOMBER BALL

Game Makers 1943

Cool skill and action game where "bombs" are dropped from cardboard airplane onto cardboard ship below.
$40 - $60

BATTLESHIP

Milton Bradley 1967

Original version of classic game (see first book for other versions). This cover is remembered by many as version where "the women" wash dishes in the kitchen while "the men" play war in the living room.
$15 $20

SPOT-A-PLANE

Toy Creations 1942

2nd Edition. Eight different neat plastic planes are used in this "identification" game.
$35 $45

Inside of SPOT-A-PLANE.

OUR DEFENDERS
Master Toy Co. 1944
Assembly of four small puzzles of different soldiers is determined by spinner. Scarce.
$75 - $100

HOGAN'S HEROES
Transogram 1966
$125 - $150

BIZERTE GERTIE
Milton Bradley 1944
Rare wartime game involves soldiers trying to "meet and date exotic maids waiting in the park and stroll with them on the moonlit beach," such as Bizerte Gertie, Sally from Bali, and New Guinea Minnie. Loser gets stuck with "Alice the Hound Dog."
$100 - $125

HOGAN'S HEROES
Transogram 1966
"The Bluff Out Game." Based on CBS TV series starring Bob Crane. Scarce game has four different "Hogans" trying to collect Money, Passport and Map cards, to smuggle a prisoner out of the camp. Moves are determined by "color cards" which are selected by reaching into the "Hogan's Heroes Duffle Bag."

Above right:
FLYING ACES
Selchow & Righter 1940s
Metal airplanes.
$50 - $75

Right: SALUTE!
Selchow & Righter 1942
Junior Edition. Patriotic game where at intervals players jump up and "salute" the 48 star flag that's included. A large box edition exists (see first book).
$50 - $75

THE JEEP BOARD

George S. Carrington Co. 1943

Small game pack given to soldiers included 15 games and 10 puzzles. The board had a cloth device that enabled the soldier to tie the game to his leg so it wouldn't fall. A version by E.S. Lowe exists, valued at $20 - $30.

$25 - $40

WATERLOO

Avalon Hill 1962

Very large version of Napoleonic Campaign strategy game.

$40 - $60

U.S. SERVICE GAME KIT

Parker Brothers 1940s

Military issue of common games (checkers, backgammon, etc.).

$25 - $35

STRATEGO

Milton Bradley 1961

Scarce "Fine Edition" of classic two handed military game (see first book for other editions).

Chapter Two

Business, Bookshelf and Sports Games

Everyone loves to make money, and board games catering to that primal urge have been around from very early on. From old standards like MONOPOLY and EASY MONEY to later variations such as CARTEL and THE AMERICAN DREAM, players have been given countless opportunities to display their business acumen. Remember, like it or not, money makes the world go round.

Bookshelf games are a unique variety of board game that blossomed during the 1960s and early 1970s. In most cases, a standard size game has been jammed into an 8 1/2" x 12" "book." The contents slide out of the slip cover box, and the game's name is printed on the spine of the exterior box. Put them on a shelf and they look like books. 3M was the leader in this field, along with Hasbro, Dynamic (Reiss) and Avalon Hill. 3M games have a strong following among collectors who value the game play as well as the odd sizes and shapes the games sometimes came in. In addition, rarities like JATI, a game that was never officially released, command high prices.

Board games about sports, or games emulating sports play, have always been enormously popular and, for the most part, valuable. The popularity of sports in today's culture has produced a whole class of sports collectors. Many of these enthusiasts cross over into board games. Games that have any connection to historic figures, such as BABE RUTH BASEBALL or JOHNNY UNITAS FOOTBALL, are highly sought after. On the other hand, because of the sheer number of sports games made over the years, many types and styles exist that are collectible, fun to play, AND affordable.

TYCOON
H.C. Jacoby Co. 1962
Stock Market simulation.
$25 - $35

STOCK TICKER
Copp Clark 1950s
"An exciting Stock Trading game." Canadian. Money says 1937, but game seems to be from the 1950s $25 - $30

THE BIG BOARD
Milton Bradley 1937
"The game of Bankers and Brokers." Very large, very heavy (ask the lady who sent it to me) game—pretty much sets up a complicated stock exchange in your living room.
$55 - $75

TICKER
Glow Products, Inc. 1929
Unusually shaped stock market game includes chips and roll out board. Valuable among collectors because it had the bad timing to be released in the year of the great stock market crash. Rare.
$125 - $150

STOCKBROKER
Dow & Co. 1975
"The fun way to play the Stock Market." Large elaborate board with built in counters for changing Stock Values during the game.
Courtesy of Jeff Lowe's ExtravaGAMEza
$75 - $100

BULLS AND BEARS
Parker Brothers 1936
$100 - $150

BULLS AND BEARS
Parker Brothers 1936
"A Stock Exchange Game." This very rare stock market game featured lots of stocks, money, and 6 tiny metal "chairs" for the stock exchange. It was invented by Charles B. Darrow (the "inventor" of MONOPOLY) and his signature and photograph (showing MONOPOLY, ETC.) is prominently displayed on the box. The game sold very poorly and is now hard to find. Since it's been proven that Darrow did not actually invent MONOPOLY (he basically brought it to the attention of Parker Brothers), it's not hard to believe that anything else he created might be unpopular. I'd just like to know what the "Etc." refers to on the box, since I know of no other games by Charles B. Darrow. (Game shown without board).

FINANCE

Parker Brothers 1936

This rare game, the same as FINANCE AND FORTUNE, was issued under this name in 1936. This title resurfaced again in 1958 (see first book). It all had to do with Parker Brothers acquiring the rights to Knapp Electric's FINANCE and other MONOPOLY related sleight-of-hand.

$40 - $65

FINANCE

Knapp Electric, Inc. 1932

(Shown without game board). Very rare, one of the predecessors (along with THE LANDLORD'S GAME) of MONOPOLY. Has the all important Property Deeds, as well as weird shaped houses, hotels, Chance and Community Chest cards. In this game, all the Community Chest cards help the Community, i.e. "Pay American Legion $1," "Pay Red Cross $50," etc., as opposed to rewarding the player.

Chapter Three

Remco Industries

Remco Industries, Inc. was started in 1949 by two young men in their mid-twenties, Issac Heller and Saul Robbins. Their New Jersey based "factory" (they employed one other person beside themselves in the beginning) exploited a new-fangled discovery whose properties were just beginning to be appreciated: plastics. They made toys, "Walkie-Talkie" toys to be precise; but, they would eventually grow into one of the country's biggest toy manufacturers.

The battery operated "Big Plastic" toys they made, like the SCREAMING MEE-MEE GUN, WHIRLYBIRD HELICOPTER, FIGHTING LADY BATTLESHIP, FIREBIRD-99 DASHBOARD, FLYING FOX AIRLINER and the whole MONKEY DIVISION and HAMILTON INVADERS series excited a whole generation of kids from the 1950s through the 1960s. They were one of the first toy companies to realize the power of television, and they advertised heavily. Though inelegant, their slogan "EVERY BOY WANTS A REMCO TOY... AND SO DO GIRLS" is emblazoned in the minds of a million children who sat glued to the tube in those early years.

Toys were their thing, but they also made board games. And although they made few games, they now occupy their own niche in board games collecting.

The company's first games seem to have been made in 1958, as part of the "Giant Wheel" series. These games came in large, coarse, cardboard boxes, but the covers were printed with delightfully simplistic cartoon drawings that were very appealing. The "Giant Wheel" was a large plastic (of course) "wheel-of-fortune" type device that the players would put together and set up. Once assembled, the wheel was spun. A small piece of plastic at the top of the wheel made the "klak-klak" sound of a playing card attached to a bicycle wheel's spokes as it revolved. The number or icon it pointed to gave the amount or position that the player moved his piece.

The playing board was unique in that it was a very large (almost 6 feet long!) colorful playing "mat" that remained rolled up when not in use. Depending on the game, the moving pieces could be plastic cowboys and Indians, horses, cars, or race boats. Some of the games came with other plastic pieces or cards that augmented play.

Games from this series included GIANT WHEEL COWBOYS AND INDIANS, GIANT WHEEL THRILLS AND SPILLS HORSE RACE GAME, GIANT WHEEL OLD MAID, GIANT WHEEL BINGO, GIANT WHEEL MISSISSIPPI SPEED BOAT RACE and GIANT WHEEL HOT ROD SPORT CAR RACE.

I guess the next logical step from a device that acts like a pair of dice is a pair of dice, and the next series was called TUMBLEBUM DICE. These games were built exactly the same as the GIANT WHEEL series except, instead of the wheel, a large plastic dice cage (similar to ones in ritzy chuck-a-luck casino games) was used. Players spun this from the handles on the sides, and took their movements from the die. The games from this series included NOTCH, SHMO and MELVIN THE MOON MAN. In addition, these three games were sold together in a very rare "COMBINATION DICE GAME" for a short period.

A series of games in a much smaller size came out in the very early sixties with names like FLAPJACK, and HOT POTATO. These were very simple skill-and-action games that relied on plastic pieces, whether they be "flapjacks" or "potatoes." At the same time, a similar sized series came out that had small plastic playing boards. These were traditional "track" games (players moving their pawns around a track, from beginning to end), with small plastic playing pieces and, sometimes, decks of cards. This series is hard to find, and included PIN-HEAD, KICK THE CAN, DOUBLE OR NOTHIN' and JOHNNY ON THE PONY. Again, the simple art is beautiful.

Then, in 1961, Remco developed a skill and action game that was to become one of the biggest selling games of its day: FASCINATION. FASCINATION stayed a big seller for the company all the way through 1969. The game consisted of two double-sided plastic mazes that were attached to two battery-operated light towers. The two players each had 3 metal balls that they tried to coerce through the plastic maze and into the three final slots. The first player to accomplish this would have his tower light up with his color (red or blue), and he would be declared the winner. Very simple, but it took the game community by storm. A spin-off called HIPPOPOTAMUS (with an electric "puzzle") was introduced, as well as blatant attempts to copy their own success with games called FASCINATION POOL and FASCINATION CHECKERS. Neither of these latter games were electric, nor were they nearly as much fun. Another game, called FRUSTRATION BALL, appeared and, although neat, faded into obscurity after lackluster sales.

In 1962, it appears the company started to experiment with licensing existing characters, and produced an amazing battery operated toy for Gerry Anderson's SUPERCAR television show, based on the car itself. Toys were created for other TV shows in 1964, such as THE MUNSTERS and VOYAGE TO THE BOTTOM OF THE SEA, as well as a series of dolls based on THE BEATLES.

However, the first board games from this period seem to come from 1965 with games based on the hit music shows HULLA BALOO and SHINDIG. A doll Remco developed, called Heidi, got her own game called HEIDI ELEVATOR GAME. These games were very simply made, and without much substance. They were the same size and shape as most board games, with a folding game board and cardboard die cut pawns to move around.

The company seemed to switch to super heroes in 1966, with toys based on BATMAN and THE GREEN HORNET, although they did create one of the most desirable games of any era, the LOST IN SPACE 3-D SPACE GAME. This extremely rare game had a game board constructed in three dimensions, with plastic spacemen playing pieces moving from one level to the next.

From there the company seems to have given up on board games until the last two years of the 1960s. In 1968-69, Remco produced games based on the television shows HAWAII FIVE-0, THE MOD SQUAD, THAT GIRL, FAMILY AFFAIR, LANCER and the completely obscure ABC mystery show, JOURNEY TO THE UNKNOWN. An "Electric Quiz" series also included CHITTY CHITTY BANG BANG, based on the movie.

All of the board games Remco produced are scarce, but those from this last effort represent some of the rarest and hardest to find of any games. As such, their worth is high. Collectors value them not only for the popularity (or lack of popularity) of the shows involved, but for their incredible scarcity.

Remco continued to produce a few games here and there after this period, like BOP BASEBALL, SPORTS ELECTRIC QUIZ, MYSTERY ZODIAC, MONKEY AUTO RACES, and THE MAGIC MAGIC MAGIC GAME; but the 1970s were hard for Remco and all toy companies. In the seventies, Remco sold out to Azrak/Hamway.

Remco may not have made a lot of games, but the ones they DID make left a lasting impression on many boys...and girls too!

HOT ROD
Remco 1960
"The Sport Car Race." All the "Giant Wheel" games came with a large rolled mat which served as the playing board, and the 12" tall Giant Wheel. Spinning the wheel determined your movement on the board. Cool plastic "hot rods" raced around the track, avoiding spinouts and crashes. This particular set is probably the hardest to find of the Giant Wheel series.

OLD MAID

Remco 1960

A cross between the card game Old Maid and bingo. Plastic chips were placed on your section of the play mat in accordance to the figures on the "Giant Wheel." Avoid the large plastic Old Maid card. Hard to find set. $35 - $45

Inside of MISSISSIPPI.

GIANT WHEEL THRILLS 'N SPILLS HORSE RACE

Remco 1958

THRILLS 'N SPILLS and GIANT WHEEL COWBOYS AND INDIANS were Remco's first games. Straight-forward horse racing game, except the Giant Wheel determined the moves. Plastic horses were used as well as plastic "wooden" steeplechase fences. The cover gives the impression that the game is three-dimensional, but it's the same flat mat playing board. Instructions were on the bottom of the box for these two games, the first and last time Remco did this. Courtesy of Rick Polizzi $35 - $45

Inside of THRILLS 'N SPILLS HORSE RACE.

MISSISSIPPI

Remco 1960

"The Speed Boat Race." Similar to HOT ROD except the Giant Wheel directed plastic speed boats around the board, hopefully avoiding trouble and seeking the finish line. Uncommon in the series. $55 - $65

GIANT WHEEL COWBOYS AND INDIANS

Remco 1958

Remco's "other" first game. Plastic Cowboy and Indian pieces. The plastic fences are now "corrals" and fences around the Indian village. The Giant Wheel controls the moves and players can leap over fences to take short-cuts. It's interesting that the object for the Indians is to get home to their village, while the object for the cowboys is to go to jail.

$50 - $55

SHMO

Remco 1959

Remco next created the "Tumblebum Dice" series, where the "Giant Wheel" was replaced by a very large plastic dice cage. The cage was spun and the dice tumbled down. The large playing pieces and huge rolled mat continued. In this baffling game, the kid who lands on a Shmo space (which shows the shmo going to school without his pants or pouring salt into his Dad's coffee) takes a shmo card and performs whatever weird activity is called for on the card. Mercifully, the object is to not be a shmo.

Not shown. GIANT WHEEL PICTURE BINGO, Remco 1960.

$25 - $35

NOTCH

Remco 1960

Large plastic cowboy playing pieces. The Tumblebum told you your moves. You went around the board doing good deeds (saving schoolmarm on runaway horse, stopping bank holdup). By doing this, you'd get "notches." In the end, the notches are converted into "notch money." The one with the most money wins. I have no idea how kids would have kept track of how many notches they had earned through the course of the game.

$40 $50

Inside of NOTCH

MELVIN THE MOON MAN

Remco 1959

Large plastic spacemen. Similar to NOTCH, only instead of getting "notches" for good deeds, you get "moon bucks" for ripping-off the Moon Men. The Tumblebum directs you in trading your camera for moon bucks or selling views of the earth through a telescope. To reach the finish, you can either bribe Melvin or take the long way around. $55 - $65

FLAPJACK

Remco 1959

More toy than game, players flipped plastic flapjacks. Depending where they landed, players give or take flapjacks away. $25 - $35

Inside of MELVIN THE MOON MAN.

Inside of FLAPJACK.

HOT POTATO

Remco 1959

Players hid the hot potato in one of the four pots, and cards told them which pot to take from whom. Game included an old-time clock windup timer. $25 - $35

Inside of HOT POTATO.

DOUBLE OR NOTHIN'

Remco 1959

"The Follow the Leader Game." In the late fifties Remco started this series of small, simple games. Each included a small plastic game board, small plastic moving pieces and cards or dice. A far cry from the giant Tumblebum and Giant Wheel games. In this game players advanced down a path picking cards which would double their dice roll or give them nothin'.

$30

Inside of DOUBLE OR NOTHIN'.

Above right and right: KICK THE CAN

Remco 1959

"A Great Old Game." Pretty lame game which had a plastic spring loaded "shoe" kicking the dice. That's it. There were only 21 spaces in the whole game! It's interesting to note that Remco used a different artist for the outside and inside of their games. I much prefer the simplified elegance of the outside covers on all their games to the garish heavy-handed "comic book" style on the inside.

$25 - $35

PINHEAD

Remco 1959

"The Game of Hide and Seek." Simple track game, but one of the weirdest covers they put out (giving the impression that you're playing LAND OF THE GIANTS)

$25 - $30

JOHNNY ON THE PONY

Remco 1959

"The On Again, Off Again Game." Game included cute little plastic "Johnny" and "Pony" pieces. Players flipped a Johnny/Pony coin to determine which card stack they choose from. First player to stay mounted on his pony and reach the finish won.

$40 - $45

FASCINATION

Remco 1961

This was a different box style put out the same year.

$25

FASCINATION

Remco 1968

This photo box cover was the last incarnation by the company.

$30

FASCINATION

Remco 1961

Original box. This was Remco's big hit. Players tried to maneuver three metal balls through plastic mazes in an attempt to be the first to light up his or her colored light. Simple, but very Fascinating...

$25 - $35

FASCINATION CHECKERS

Remco 1962

Remco attempts to cash in on the success of FASCINATION. The only thing fascinating about this Chinese Checkers variant was the name.

$20 - $25

FASCINATION POOL

Remco 1962

Another game fashioned after FASCINATION. Players attempt to put different colored balls into same colored pockets simultaneously. But nothing lights up. $20 - $25

Inside of FASCINATION POOL.

HIPPOPOTAMUS

Remco 1961

Electric game using the same colored light system to determine the winner; but, this game uses the completion of simple puzzles as the race, not marbles in mazes. A similar system was used in HULLABALOO ELECTRIC TEEN GAME in 1965. $25 - $35

Inside of HIPPOPOTAMUS.

FRUSTRATION BALL

Remco 1969

This nasty entry came late in the game for Remco. Using a round plastic sphere, you had to drop a metal ball from eight little cups, in order. They called it FRUSTRATION BALL because IRRITATING BALL was already taken. $20

SHINDIG

Remco 1965

Among the first licensed games by Remco, along with HEIDI ELEVATOR and HULLABALOO. Based on the ABC TV show starring Jimmy O'Neill, it was basically a simple music trivia game. $45 - $55

HEIDI ELEVATOR GAME

Remco 1965

"Based on the Heidi Pocketbook Doll, as seen on TV," which was, of course, made by Remco. This simple game, more in the traditional game style (with pawns and spinner), involves players riding up and down an elevator, waiting for the proper time to get on or off a floor (kind of like DONKEY KONG JR.) and reach the bottom. If two Heidi's occupy the same floor at the same time, they must shout "Hi, Heidi" or lose a turn (really) $55 - $65

Inside of HEIDI ELEVATOR GAME.

FAMILY AFFAIR

Remco 1968

Based on the CBS TV series starring Brian Keith. All the games from this period have simplistic line art on the insert and board. Depending on which section of the board the player is on, the dice will have different meaning. If you're on the Bus and roll a three, Buffy forgot Mrs. Beasley, so you must go back to the Zoo. Roll a one in the Park and you lose a turn. Player who manages to get all five family members back home wins.
$150 - $200

LOST IN SPACE 3D ACTION FUN GAME

Remco 1966

(Exists in color) Based on the CBS TV series starring the "Space Family Robinson." The most valuable game that Remco made is a simple track game that happens to have three levels. Plastic spacemen obey a spinner and leap from level to level amidst a cardboard futuristic background.
$450 - $550

CHITTY CHITTY BANG BANG ELECTRIC QUIZ GAME

Remco 1968

Based on the movie starring Dick Van Dyke. In 1968-69, Remco released a whole bunch of licensed board games, and all of them are highly prized. This one is similar to HULLABALOO and is essentially a movie trivia game.
$55 - $70

JOURNEY TO THE UNKNOWN

Remco 1968

Based on the (short-lived) ABC TV series. Rare game in which players must visit secret rooms, collect cards and hurry back to safety. The problem is you don't know where the cards you need are in the many rooms, so you must visit quite a few before collecting all three. A special dice could double your spin $250 - $300

THE MOD SQUAD

Remco 1968

Based on the ABC TV series. The game is "As Timely as Today's Headlines," which doesn't say a lot for it. Pretty much a game of CLUE, with players going to places on the board looking for clues. Groovy art on the inside, though $175- $225

HAWAII FIVE-O

Remco 1968

Based on the CBS TV series starring Jack Lord. Game involves Steve McGarrett and his associates searching for information about a crime at various locations on the board, like the Shopping District or the South Beach District.

MAGIC! MAGIC! MAGIC! GAME
Remco 1975
Remco recycled components of many magician toy packages into this game where players are forced to perform tricks successfully $25 - $30

Not Shown: THAT GIRL, Remco 1969, $250 - $350; SPORTS ELECTRIC QUIZ, Remco 1969, $20 - $30; MONKEY AUTO RACES, Remco 1967, $25 - $35; and COMBINATION DICE GAME Remco 1960s(?), $100 - $150.

BOP BASEBALL
Remco 1961
HUGE wooden game (6 feet long!) had players actually using a bat to hit a baseball puck into scoring position on the board. Uncommon.
$50- $75

THE MYSTERY ZODIAC
Remco 1969
Large plastic device is more of a fortune telling machine than a game. Has logo which says "From the Little Old Toymaker."

Chapter Four

General Games

---

General games are those that defy easy categorization. To me, this section is the "Volkswagen" of board games, the "People's Games," "Meat and Potatoes" games. These are the games that have sustained the genre from the very beginning. These are the games that we grew up with, remember, and enjoy. While the "Porsches" of board games may get all the attention and corresponding value, the games with no special affiliation and no celebrity endorsement remain in our hearts. Collectors eagerly seek out CANDYLAND and MYSTERY DATE because they are fun and complete a link to our past. No one buys the HOGAN'S HEROES BLUFF OUT GAME for its play value.

Card games, marble games, skill and action games, educational games, and games of every description that have historically formed the foundation of board games in general are found in this section.

GIANT COOTIE
Schaper 1950s
$125 - $150

GIANT COOTIE

Schaper 1950s

This was the same game as regular Cootie, but the pieces were huge! The box itself is two feet tall, and the Giant Cooties dwarf a regular cootie (actually a Marx "Busy Bee" rip-off). They were so big they had plugs in their bellies, and doubled as banks. They must have had a hard time selling these, as this game is rare, and subsequent reissues of this exact product happened into the 1970s.

GIANT COOTIE

Schaper 1978

The last incarnation of the Giant Cootie. Even though the Cootie style had officially changed, the original 1950s version was included in this set. Only two cooties were included.

$35 - $45

COOTIE

Schaper 1972

This is a few years after the classic Cootie was re-styled. They claimed the molds had worn out. (See first book for other versions).

$20 - $25

GIANT COOTIE

Schaper 1972

First reissue of 1950s Giant Cootie. Only 2 were included. Rare.

$45 - $55

COOTIE HOUSE

Schaper 1966

Very rare game involving the use of Cooties, and a large plastic play mat.

$55 - $75

Inside of COOTIE HOUSE

BEETLE
Chad Valley 1960s
English game, a direct rip-off of COOTIE, with the same pieces.
$20 - $25

BUG
Unknown 1960s
Small, Japanese rip-off of COOTIE.
Courtesy of Jeff Lowe's
ExtravaGAMEza
$10 - $20

SPACE BUG
Wm. Druke and Sons, Inc. 1959
Very poor man's COOTIE, with plastic pegs covering painted cootie picture on wooden blocks.
$10 - $15

BUSY BEE
Marx 1950s
Canadian rip-off of COOTIE. It's obvious that copies were made of the original Cootie, and cheesy wings were added to make "bees."
$25 $30

SCARECROW
Schaper 1952
Early Schaper game, same as DUNCE (see first book).
$25 - $35

MILL
Schaper 1950s
"Based on the old favorite."
Rather than a piece of wood and golf tees, plastic men were used.
$20 - $25

MILL
Schaper 1960s
Reissue
$10 - $15

SHIFTY GEAR
Schaper 1962
Try to connect your gears from one side of the board to the other.
$25 - $35

SQUARES
Schaper 1950s
Try to trap your opponent's "dot" with your "square."
$10 - $15

PUT AND TAKE
Schaper 1956
This simple game, involving putting chips in and taking chips out, remained in their line for many years.
$10 - $12

TIDDLE-TAC-TOE
Schaper 1950s
Cross between Tiddley Winks and Tic-Tac Toe
$12 - $15

Right: PUT AND TAKE
Schaper 1960s
Unusual cover art for them
$20 - $25

Far Right:
GUESS'N BEE
Schaper 1960s
Obscure game. Guess the word and a jet of air reveals the missing letters. Guess wrong and you're "stung."
$30 - $40

HISPANIOLA

Schaper 1957

Very unusual and very rare "historical" game for Schaper. Must have been made at the same time as TREASURE ISLAND. Beautiful cover.

$75 - $100

NIBBLES N' BITES

Schaper 1964

Magnetic switch on the ol' FISH POND game.

$30 - $40

Inside of HISPANIOLA.

DUNCE

Schaper 1960s

Photo cover version (see first book for other editions).

$20 - $25

DON'T SPILL THE BEANS

Schaper 1967

Actually uses real dried beans. I think it's the only game to use an actual food product.

$20 - $25

JACK AND THE BEANSTALK

Schaper 1965

Cool game had players gathering plastic leaves of giant stalk and climbing to the top. First one there made giant pop out of castle (and he presumably ate you).

$35 - $40

KING OF THE HILL

Schaper 1968
 "Hazards, Pitfalls, Obstacles, Traps Galore." First one to the top made plastic "Crown" pop out.
 Photo cover.
 $20 - $25

TICKLE BEE

Schaper 1956
 Second biggest seller behind COOTIE. Magnetic game.
 $35 - $40

HORSE PLAY
 Schaper 1962
 Standard horse race game given Schaper treatment.
 $45 - $55

TICKLE BEE

Schaper 1976
 Sellers sometimes (unknowingly) misrepresent this game. The only copyright says 1956, but actually the box is smaller, and the board graphics are different from the expensive 1956 version. The dead giveaway is the "new" cootie logo in the upper right corner of the box, which didn't start being used until 1969.
 $15 - $20

PUCK-LUCK HOCKEY
 Schaper 1960s
 Scarce magnetic game similar to TICKLE BEE.
 $40 - $45

Right:
SHAKE-A-LEG
 Schaper 1971
 Unique timer used a marble and centrifugal force.
 $15 - $20

LONDON BRIDGE

Schaper 1972
Schaper changed the box style of their games in the late 1960s. Their boxes became more like carrying cases and had a built in string "handle" $15 - $20

HUMPTY DUMPTY

Schaper 1971
Simplistic game. Some people only collect the plastic Humpty Dumpty figure.
$20 - $30

HAVE-A-HEART

Schaper 1960s
Here's a horrifying game in which opponents try to "dislodge clip-on hearts" with the enclosed plastic swords.
$25 - $35

CASPER THE FRIENDLY GHOST

Schaper 1974
$35 - $40

SOMBRERO

Schaper 1971
Players try to get their marbles through a maze and into the center of a precariously balanced sombrero.
$20 - $25

CASPER THE FRIENDLY GHOST

Schaper 1974
Neat game in which all pieces glowed in the dark, and Casper himself lit up when placed in the correct configuration. I have two of these games, and I have yet to figure out how to make him light up. This game and I'M GEORGE GOBEL (Schaper 1955) are the only two games Schaper got a character license for (see first book).

DON'T BREAK THE ICE

Schaper 1969

Classic game uses the plastic boy figure from DUNCE

$10 - $15

SNATCH

Gopher Game Co. 1954

There must be some connection between Schaper and this company (that made a lousy version of SPOONS). It uses the exact same size box, colors, and lettering as the 1950s COOTIE (see first book). Both companies are also from Minneapolis, Minnesota. Relation or rip-off? $10 - $15

WING-IT

Schaper 1971

Shooting gallery.

$20 - $25

TIPPY TEEPEE

Schaper 1970

The game of JACK

STRAWS

French version.
$20 - $30

STOCK EXCHANGE
Chessex 1992
Reproduction of original rare Monopoly expansion set (see first book). You put this set on "Free Parking," and you have additional fun with your game.
$25 - $35

RICH UNCLE
Parker Brothers 1950s
Spin-off of MONOPOLY
Variant (see first book).
$40 - $50

TIDDLEDY WINKS

Parker Brothers 1900s?

Different games could be played, with winks and small bowling pins. Came with glass cup, which is of special interest to some collectors.

$25 - $35

BATS IN YOUR BELFRY

Mattel 1964

A timer popped plastic bats up out of a castle. Players had to catch them with giant, webbed Creature from the Black Lagoon hands.

$55 - $75

Below

HAUNTED HOUSE

Ideal 1962

Another cool, giant game. Players move through what amounts to a 3-D board, opening hidden doors while listening to the "hooting owl" spinner, and searching for the hidden jewel in the attic. Great box graphics.

$350 - $450

VAMPIRE MONSTER GAME

Lakeside 1970s

$25 - $35

WEREWOLF MONSTER GAME

$75 - $100

MOON FLIGHT

Avon 1970

$20 - $25

MOON FLIGHT

Avon 1970

Giant game board, moving pieces, instructions, Apollo rocket with Moon lander, and an American flag were all jammed into this neat game by Avon. And when you were done, you could douse yourself with the contents of the rocket. How many games can you do that with?

Inside of ASTRO LAUNCH.

MOUSE CAT SCRAMBLE

Steven Mfg. 1967
$15 - $20

CAT AND MOUSE

Parker Brothers 1964
Little plastic mice moved around the board, and tried not to fall into the cat's traps.
$15 - $20

MOUSE CAT SCRAMBLE

Steven Mfg. 1967
Small game similar to RED SKELTON'S "I DOOD IT," SCAT (see first book) and JACK BE NIMBLE. Players place their mice in the center of the table and hold them by their tails. When the "Cat" figure appears on the dice all players must yank their mice as fast as they can, while the cat must attempt to trap the mice with the plastic cat. In this case, when the cat slams down, it makes a "squeak" noise from the built in squeaker. Lots of neat graphics.

CATCH 'EM

Mattel 1969
Huge plastic cheese and magnetic mice
$20 - $25

TRAP THE RAT

Hasbro 1964
Plastic fences try to surround an escaping rat. Some games came with a plastic mouse piece, others with a metal mouse $20 $25

KING OF THE CHEESE

Milton Bradley 1967
For the kiddies.
$20 - $25

BARK N' BITE
Ideal 1969
Players try to avoid the dog as they deliver the mail. Obscure game
$25 - $35

TILTIN' MILTON
Ideal 1968
One of many plastic balancing games, like HUNGRY HENRY (see first book).
$20 - $25

TOWER CLIMB
Milton Bradley 1971
Neat game in which you and a partner must work together to raise a plastic ball up and out of the tower.
$15 - $20

HURRY WAITER!

Ideal 1967
$25 - $35

HOT DIGGITY DOG

Transogram 1967
"The Amusement Park Fun Game." The plastic hot dog machine determined your moves. Plastic weiners!
$25 - $35

HURRY WAITER!

Ideal 1967
Large, nerve-racking game in which one player must memorize what other players have ordered, and then quickly bring their orders to them while balancing a revolving timer-tray. The good news is there is lots of plastic fruit.

GIGGLE POOL

Unknown 1950s?
I'm not sure why it was called Giggle or Pool, because you do neither. Basically you're using bellows to blow a Styrofoam ball into your opponents corner.
$20

SANDLOT SLUGGER

Milton Bradley 1968
'Slugging Sam,' the mechanical batter, was spring loaded and basically played Tee-Ball in this popular action game.
$25 - $35

SCARECROW

Ideal 1975
Shoot the giant plastic scarecrow in the proper spot and he'll fall to pieces $55 - $75

LEAP FROG

The game of COOTIE, only you're building a Bandersnatch.
$30 - $35

MR. MAD
Ideal 1970
Super cool game in which a battery-operated robot spins out of control, spewing marbles, if you put the wrong marble in the wrong spot.
$35 - $45

MR. REMBRANDT
Ideal 1970
Kind of a motorized Spirograph.
$30 - $40

Left:
Inside of MR. MAD.

SMACK-A-ROO
Mattel 1964
"Play Baseball, Bowling, Smack-it, and Many Other Wonderful Games" $25 - $35

TU TU

Ideal 1963

"The Tossin' Turtle." Large plastic turtle plays catch with you, providing you throw the ball exactly in his mouth.
$30 - $40

FANG BANG

Milton Bradley 1967

Bizarre game in which players don witch doctor masks and try to beat each other with balloon snakes until they burst.
$30 - $40

BOP THE BEETLE

Ideal 1962

Basically Tiddely Winks, with large plastic beetles that you try to "bop" into the giant frog's mouth.
$65 - $75

SNAKES IN THE GRASS

Kohner 1960

Players use wiggly rubber snakes to pick up colored marbles from a pit. Very irritating $25 - $35

CAREFUL

Ideal 1967

"The toppling tower game."

Nerve-wracking game in which players take turns removing parts of a tower indicated by the spinner.
$25 - $35

BABYSITTER

Ideal 1966

Large, scarce game in which the object is not to wake up the spring loaded baby while doing things that baby-sitters do best, like listening to the radio, playing records and eating from the fridge. The baby makes a cute squeaking noise when he wakes up.
$75 - $100

Inside of BABY SITTER

MONKEY SHINES

E.S. Lowe 1960s
Huge plastic palm tree is climbed by players' monkeys before the chimpanzee catches them. Is it just me, or do these kids have a lot of mascara on?
$20 - $25

MONKEY'S UNCLE

Transogram 1967
$40 - $50

CAGEY MONKEY

Whitman 1960s
Courtesy of Jeff Lowe's
ExtraGAMEza
$15 - $20

MONKEY'S UNCLE

Transogram 1967
"A Stunt Festival," and no truer words were ever spoken. Gigantic game had tons of stunts that players had to rush to and perform, from fishing in a cardboard box to making sounds like a Monkey's Uncle. When the large Monkey Timer's eyes came full circle, the round was over. Scarce.

OPEN SESAME

Ideal 1972
Large, cool plastic "mountain" houses fabulous jewels. If you drop your marble at the right time, "open sesame," the door opens and the jewels are yours $20 - $25

KOOKIE CHICKS
Milton Bradley 1967
Magnetic wands under the board controlled these wacky Styrofoam eggs.
$20 - $25

HOCUS POCUS
Transogram 1968

$12 - $15

HAPPY FACE
Milton Bradley 1968
Youngsters matched cards to faces
$10 - $15

BUG BOPPER
Magic Wand Corp. 1969
"Bop the bugs with the bug bopper." Magnetic action game.
$10 - $15

MOSQUITO
Milton Bradley 1966
Players tried to maneuver a spinning top for points.
$30 - $40

Inside of MOSQUITO.

TUMBLE BUMBLE
Ideal 1970
Large plastic capsules slide down ramps into holes on the board.
$20 - $30

Right:
FIRE HOUSE MOUSE
Transogram 1967
Players try to pull the cards
they need before the mouse comes bobbing down the fire pole. Transogram also used this same concept for SPY'S-A POPPIN.
$30 - $40

Left:
GNIP GNOP
Parker Brothers 1971
I guess everyone knows by now that GNIP GNOP is PING PONG spelled backwards.
$15 - $20

THREE KEYS TO TREASURE
Marx 1960
$75 - $100

THREE KEYS TO TREASURE
Marx 1960
Very large "Bagatelle" game in which players must try to line up the balls in three different sections on the board. When this is done, the locking mechanism is released and the treasure door pops open, revealing the prize that the wheel has turned to for that session. Marx did a lot of pinball machines and bagatelles, but this one is unique.

GIGGLE STICK
Art Emboss Print Co.
1930s?
Players picked a stick and read the hilarious story.
$5 - $10

RUBIK'S CUBE
Ideal 1980
"The Original" Rubik's Cube. Puzzle.
$15 - $20

TWIDDLER
Parker Brothers 1969
Maze game.
$10 - $15

TIME BOMB
Milton Bradley 1964
Basically hot potato. Bomb goes off in hands of last one holding it. Great collector interest. Courtesy of Rick Polizzi $45 - $55

PLUG-A-JUG
Parker Brothers 1969
Word game in plastic jug container.
$7 - $10

BARREL OF MON-KEYS
Lakeside 1965
This original edition of the old favorite came in a cardboard container. Subsequent edition were in plastic barrels.
$30 - $40

SPUDSIE
Ohio Art 1960s
"The Hot Potato Game." Same as TIME BOMB. Another rare Ohio Art game.
$30 - $40

Left:
SKITTLE BINGO
 Aurora 1973
 Don Adams again appeared on the cover of this revolving electric bingo game.
 $35 - $45

SKITTLE POOL
 Aurora 1972
 Don Adams appeared on the cover of this and the many other "Skittle" games that the original SKITTLE BOWL spawned, like SKITTLE HORSE SHOES, SKITTLE POKER, SKITTLE SHOOT-OUT, SKITTLE TIC-TAC-TOE, SKITTLE BINGO, and ALL-AMERICAN SKITTLE SCORE-BALL.
 $50 - $65

HIGH STAKES
 Hasbro 1973
 Huge Vegas-style game featured Jerry Lewis on the cover. Others in this series included SPELLBOUND.
 $30 - $40

ALL AMERICAN SKITTLE SCORE-BALL
 Aurora 1972
 Reduced version of the original Skittle Score-Ball.
 $20 - $25

SPELLBOUND
 Hasbro 1973
 Huge spelling game with Jerry Lewis on the cover.
 $30 - $40

WHOOOPS
 Aurora 1968
 Interesting game that had kids balancing on small plastic bowls. How many broken ankles occurred? Box of rare game is same size and shape as Aurora's Monster Models of the period.
 $20 - $30

TIGHT SQUEEZE

Mattel 1967

Mothers of America must have loved this game that had teenagers joined at the groin with tight fitting plastic belts.

$30 - $40

AIR TRIX

Milton Bradley 1976

"The Airstream Game." Super cool game involves moving a ball through all kinds of obstacles while balancing it on a cushion of air.

$25 - $35

BOOB TUBE RACE

Milton Bradley 1962

This originally was a stunt from the Shenanigans TV show.

$20 - $25

WHIRL OUT

Milton Bradley 1971

If you don't place your marbles carefully, the delicately balanced wheel will turn, spilling all your marbles.

$20 - $25

REBOUND

Ideal 1971

Shuffleboard, only rebounding off of corners.

$15 $20

PITCH-A-ROO

Milton Bradley 1975

Bean bag toss game.

$20

KNOCK-OFF!

Kenner 1969

Rare motorized game involves trying to keep the weird looking creature (Big Bopper) away from your side of the board where he'd knock off your playing piece (Fall Guy). Kind of like MONSTER LAB.
$35 - $45

POST OFFICE

Hasbro 1968

"Read your mail - Perform the stunt." From a series of "Lovable Games" that included SPIN THE BOTTLE and THE GAME OF LOVE (see first book).
$25 - $35

HOP 'N STOMP

Kenner 1969

No, those kids aren't doing the Ubang! Stomp; they're trying to pick up numbered discs with suction-cupped devices attached to their shoes.
$25 - $35

BARNSTORMER

Marx 1970

The windup plane flies around the board, and no one knows who's pile of discs it will hit. Jack Davis illustrations on instructions.
$20 - $25

CLUNK-A-GLUNK

Whitman 1968

Another unfortunately named game involving players swinging suction-cupped hammers to grab clunks and glunks.
$30

PANIC!

Ideal 1965

Don't press the wrong button...
$25 - $35

SPRING CHICKEN
Mattel 1968
Putting a feather in the wrong place could cause you to lose all your marbles.
$20 - $25

ROCK PAPER SCISSORS
Ideal 1968
If they could make CHARADES into a board game, they could make this into one too.
$25 - $35

MUSINGO
Mattel 1962
Musical Bingo. The "organ grinder" actually plays music, as in "Jack in the Box" technology.
$25 - $35

FINGER DINGER MAN
Mattel 1969
Scarce game, in unusual box.
$30 - $40

BIG THUMB
Mattel 1970
One player wears a giant oversized thumb and tries to steal chips, while all the other players try to smash his thumb with plastic hammers. Charming game.
$30 - $40

HAPPY, HAPPY BIRTHDAY
Mattel 1963
"You can tell it's Mattel, it sounds swell." A huge plastic birthday cake contained a "Jack in the Box" mechanism that popped open your "surprise" at the end of the song.
$35 - $45

HAPPY BIRTHDAY SURPRISE

Milton Bradley 1957

From a "square box" series of games that included BUMPY, STOP WONDERLAND, MIGHTY MOUSE, MERRY CIRCUS, and JALOPY RACE.

$20 - $25

HEY PA! THERE'S A GOAT ON THE ROOF

Parker Brothers 1965

Favorite with collectors despite (or perhaps because of) the stupid title. 3-D board had players trying to get from point A to point B without encountering the goat. A little bell summoned the farmer.

$35 - $45

BRIDG-IT

Hasbro 1960

Players tried to place plastic pieces from one side of the board to the other without the opponent blocking.

From the collection of Bob Claster

$15 - $20

SPEEDWAY

Ideal 1961

As in a carnival, you smacked the bottom of this device to send the ball soaring up the board. From a "Big Bopper" series that included SKIN DIVER.

$40 - $45

BRIDG-IT

Hasbro 1961

Advanced Deluxe Edition. Rare.

$40 - $50

FINDER'S KEEPERS

Milton Bradley 1968

"The Thinking Game Where Memory Pays!"

$15 - $20

AVALANCHE
Parker Brothers 1966
Swinging gate marble game.
$20 - $25

TOOT! TOOT!

$40 - $55

Inside of TOOT! TOOT!

KOO KOO CHOO CHOO
Ohio Art 1967
$55 - $75

KOO KOO CHOO CHOO
Ohio Art 1967
Very large and very heavy, elaborate rare game from Ohio Art, designed by Marvin Glass. It's kind of like TIME BOMB on wheels, or the movie SPEED. The Koo Koo Choo Choo can't stop, and it's carrying a load of Dynamite with a ticking timer. The object is to switch the tracks so that when it does explode, it does so on another player, and not you. Rare game.

DON'T DUMP THE DAISY
Ideal 1970
Plastic daisy is balanced on a stiff spring. Put the marbles on the wrong petal, and wham! Marbles all over the place
$17 - $25

$30 - $45

LITTLE RED SCHOOL HOUSE

Parker Brothers 1952

This elaborate question and answer game seems to be in answer to Milton Bradley's GO TO THE HEAD OF THE CLASS.

$25 - $35

LET'S FACE IT!

Hasbro 1955

COOTIE game with Mr Potato Head pieces. Players spin and, depending on which part of the anatomy the spinner points to, have to start building their figure. It's interesting to note that this game isn't called "The Mr Potato Head Game," when it's obvious that's what it is. Two versions of the cover exist, with one proclaiming "As advertised in Life," and one without. Modestly described as the "Funniest Game in the World."

FINGERS HARRY

Topper 1967

"Wildest, wackiest, most wonderful magnetic chase game yet." Fingers Harry or Patrolman Bill could "blow their top." Scarce game, one of a few this company made besides SILLY SAFARI (see first book). $50 - $60

$30 - $40

ICE CUBE

Milton Bradley 1972

The mysterious game. Players make molds out of real ice, and go about the board trying not to melt, despite the danger of salt and hot washers. Many people had asked me about this game and, with the help of Tom Fassbender, I was able to figure out what the heck they were talking about. It seems to be a big hit with collectors, with no end to the outrageous prices being paid. Courtesy of Uglytown Productions $75 - $125

PIZZA PIE
Milton Bradley 1974
"The Yummy Rummy Pizza Game." The game of Rummy using cardboard pizza slices.
$20 - $25

Photo cover version of the 1966 popular girl's career game (see first book).

$25 - $35

WHAT SHALL I BE?

Selchow & Righter 1976

Edition Two. Attempts to correct the chauvinistic career choices of earlier editions by including Director, News Anchor, Astronaut, Lawyer, Doctor, and Jockey instead of Ballerina, Stewardess, Teacher, Beauty Queen, Actress, and Nurse.

$20 - $25

PLAY SAFE

Milton Bradley 1936

Bizarre game about children and safety, but it has cool metal "people" moving pieces

$50 - $70

WHAT SHALL I BE?
Selchow & Righter 1968
Boys Edition. Rare.
$30 - $40

I WISH I WERE
Milton Bradley 1964
$30 - $40

I WISH I WERE
Milton Bradley 1964
"A game of pretending." Neat large plastic "board" and "dress-up dolls" combined to make this obscure game interesting. Players moved around the board getting the education or training they needed for their chosen career. First player to reach the end becomes what they "wish they were." This game is years ahead of Selchow & Righter's WHAT SHALL I BE?, but has the same restrictions on careers for girls. Models, Actress, Teacher, Stewardess, or Nurse.

ESCORT
Parker Brothers 1955
"Game of Guys and Gals." Very odd artwork on this game that is essentially Chinese Checkers. I guess the woman needs an escort to protect her from all the marauding males.
$35 - $45

DREAM DATE
Transogram 1963
Large, elaborate magnetic game. "Use your personal magnetism to 'click' with the boy of your choice." Same game workings as ESPIONAGE.
$35 - $45

SENIOR PROM
Built Rite 1966
Warehouse find has reduced value.
$20 - $25

MONEY
Cadaco 1973
"Contains Real Coins from 10 different countries."
$15 - $20

SPOT CASH
Milton Bradley 1959
"A new type game of logic and skill."
$10 - $15

THREE LITTLE PIGS
Selchow & Righter 1959
Kids who were too young to read could still play this game.
$25 - $35

FIRE CHIEF
Selchow & Righter 1957
"The Game of Mixed-Up Firemen." The series included POSTMAN, MECHANIC MAC, POLICEMAN, and ENGINEER (see first book).

Selchow & Righter 1957
"The Jolly Jalopy Game."
$20 - $25

GINGERBREAD MAN

Selchow & Righter 1961

Cool game had four small puzzles of the gingerbread house that players had to be the first to finish.

$30 - $40

SIMPLE SIMON BALLOON GAME

Hasbro 1966

"With balloons."

$10 - $15

LOST LITTLE PIGS

Milton Bradley 1936

Three different simple games could be played on the box bottom board.

$30 - $40

FAIRY TALE GAME

Selchow & Righter 1962

Journey through a fairy tale kingdom. I don't like the way that wolf is looking at Little Red Riding Hood.

$10 - $15

A VISIT TO ### MOTHER GOOSE

Parker Brothers 1947

Huge oversized game with beautiful artwork and chalk playing pieces of little boys and girls. I think it is one of the finest of the post-war era.

$75 - $95

HEX

Parker Brothers 1950

Build with "hex" shapes from one side of the board to the other. Neat Elf graphics.

$20 - $25

Neat trivia game where five different knobs have to be aligned correctly to get some answers.
$25 - $35

LET'S TAKE A TRIP

Milton Bradley 1963
Collector's seem to remember this game, as it's gets a lot of requests. Players move their autos by spinning the dial.
Courtesy of Jeff Lowe's ExtravaGAMEza
$15 - $25

TRAVEL AMERICA

Jacmar 1950
Cheesy "electric" trivia game. Very small.
$15 - $20

GLOBE-TROTTERS

Selchow & Righter 1950
Directions are in comic strip form. Deadly words in instructions: "you're sure to learn a lot."
$30 - $40

ALLSTATE TRAVEL

Selchow & Righter 1964
Made exclusively for Sears, this neat car travel game came with wooden cars and a built in compass.
$40 - $50

BILLBOARD

Harett-Gilmar 1956
"The Brand Name Advertising Game." Super cool game involves buying advertising and renting billboard space.
Includes little wooden billboards of popular items.
$75 - $100

Inside of BILLBOARD.

Game Hunting?

At last all guess work has been eliminated in the selection of the right game for the right age. The games in this folder have been selected and classified for their appeal to various age groups running the gamut from the toddling youngsters to the doddering elder. $30 - $40

SHARPSHOOTER
Cadaco-Ellis 1962

Featured a pair of plastic, rubber band shooting guns. When you shot an animal, it would flip over revealing its point score. What I don't understand is how come on the box cover, all the animals are benign and smiling. Not just the ones on the wall, which might have been stuffed that way, but the ones in the forest, too. Yet on the target, they are all snarling with nasty expressions. Is it easier to kill an angry animal than a happy one?

HOOKEY
Cadaco-Ellis 1946
Catch those fish and put them in the cardboard frying pan
$30 - $40

RED HERRING

CLICKETY CLACK

AGES 4 TO 12 PRICE $2.00

A fun, fast-paced game of luck and timing. Just roll the dice and watch the marbles race down the wooden tracks to the finish line. The first to get to the finish line wins. The more you play, the more fun you have.

CHINESE STAR CHECKERS

AGES 5 TO 12 PRICE $2.00

A very high quality game with 60 marbles that fit in a convenient carrying case. The wooden playing board is framed in wood molding that maintains a rigid playing surface and prevents marbles from falling. Reverse side for Chess and Checkers.

CHUTES AND LADDERS

AGES 4 TO 12 PRICE $2.00

This popular game teaches the rewards of good deeds and the youngsters never get bored. It's up and down, hills and spills. Rules are simple, easy to follow—just spin the dial and away you go. Four color playing pieces for 2, 3 or 4 players.

QUIZMO

AGES 6 TO 12 PRICE $1.00

An educational game that teaches youngsters number combinations while they play. An ideal way to learn addition and subtraction. Enough numbers and markers for twenty-eight players. A multiplication and division Quizmo game is also available.

Chapter Five

Entertainment Games

Right:
FIREBALL XL5
Milton Bradley 1964
$125 - $150

People want to be entertained, and industries have tried to provide amusements through the media of print, radio, movies and television. Board games have frequently tried to translate that mass media experience in a way that enables people to relive their favorite moments from entertainment in the comfort of their homes. While some games have been successful in this endeavor, like Harett-Gilmar's TREASURE ISLAND, with its elaborate magnetic devices, metal sailing ship and cool compasses, more often they have failed—the game being nothing more than a marketing device to exploit a current fad. Parker Brother's lame BONANZA board game falls into this category. The box cover shows the Cartwright family seated around a table playing cards with an obviously pasted on picture of the game in the center. The game was nothing more than plain old Michigan Rummy, with no reference to the show other than the phony cover.

Here then, good and bad, are the games inspired by films, books, television, toys, cartoons, comic books, comic strip characters, events, personalities, video games and even candy.

Prepare to be entertained!

FIREBALL XL5

Milton Bradley 1964

Another entry from British puppeteer Gerry Anderson, this TV show followed the exploits of Steve Zodiac and his crew as they zoomed around space in their spaceship Fireball XL5. This TV show appeared after the series SUPERCAR, but before STINGRAY and THUNDERBIRDS—all popular "Super Marionation" adventures. In this game, Steve Zodiac, Venus, Professor, and Zero control two robot pieces each. The object is for each player to get his robots through the treacherous training course and into the "Robot Garage." Great graphics.

$125 - $150

STINGRAY
Transogram 1966
Based on the Saturday morning TV series using the "Super Marionation" process pioneered by Britain's Gerry Anderson. Basically a bunch of cool looking puppets, led by cool lead puppet Troy Tempest. Using the futuristic submarine STINGRAY, they would fight the evil Aquaphibians. In the game, the object was to reach the underwater city. A transparent maze device that attached to the board kept players shifting back and forth. One of the best looking game covers of the 1960s.

SEA HUNT
Lowell 1961
Based on the TV series starring Lloyd Bridges Underwater treasure hunt
$75 - $100

TIME TUNNEL

TOM AND JERRY

Milton Bradley 1948

$75 - $100

TOM AND JERRY

Milton Bradley 1948

"Gay Double Feature Cartoon Game." First game made about MGM's famous cartoon cat and mouse. Cute plastic mouse and cat pieces were moved by separate Tom and Jerry spinners. Beautifully drawn box cover and board. Since the duo are known for trying to kill each other in horrible ways, it's interesting to note that the game is "Psych-Tested." I guess they had different standards back then.

MR. MAGOO GAME

Standard Toykraft 1964

Based on the NBC animated series

 $150 - $200

TOP CAT
 Whitman 1962
 Based on the ABC TV animated series (which appeared in prime time). Very rare game in which Top Cat and his cronies attempt to canvas the neighborhood, pick up items (like fish), outwit Officer Dribble, and arrive at Top Cat's trash can.
 $175 - $225

CRUSADER RABBIT TV GAME
 Tryne Sales 1956
 $250 - $350

THE JETSONS OUT OF THIS WORLD GAME
 Transogram 1962
 Based on the ABC prime time animated series. Playing pieces included the whole family (including Rosie the Robot), as well as plastic space ships and comets $150 - $200

CRUSADER RABBIT TV GAME
 Tryne Sales 1956
 Extremely rare game based on the first animated cartoon character created by Jay Ward expressly for television. Although the game is simple, and involves players hunting for pieces of a puzzle to complete a picture of Crusader Rabbit, it is well made and extremely colorful. The spinner is a portrait of Rags the tiger, and the color indicating the player's move is shown in his right eye.

MIGHTY MOUSE PLAYHOUSE RESCUE GAME

Harett-Gimar 1956

Based on the popular CBS Terrytoon animated series. Lots of characters on the box cover.

Courtesy of Jeff Lowe's ExtravaGAMEza

$65 - $75

TERRYTOONS TV LOTTO

Ideal 1961

Courtesy of Jeff Lowe's ExtravaGAMEza

$30 - $45

Board games are flat out fun! They continue to fascinate players and collectors alike, long after their lives on toy store shelves, and their appeal is rapidly growing. Demand for games has only increased worldwide with the growth of the Internet fueling the collector market. From Monopoly to Battleship, Annie Oakley to Magilla Gorilla, this completely new book presents over 1,000 color photographs of board games, from current favorites to great classics dating back to the 1920s. It includes an informative text, vintage advertisements, and current market prices. There is a special chapter on Remco Industries, which had a small but sought after output of games in the 1950s and 1960s.

More Board Games continues where the author's first book, Board Games, left off. It is sure to satisfy the game-playing appetites of collectors, dealers, and enthusiasts everywhere.
